Following my studies, I worked in marketing in a video game startup, which enabled me to conclude my Master's degree in a position with responsibilities and great autonomy on various projects. I am now seeking to distance myself from marketing to eventually direct design projects which aim to have a positive ecological and social influence, through subjects like nutrition, cultural accessibility or sustainable fashion, which matter to me. I am simultaneously freelancer to expand my professional experience.
